Trypanosomiasis

The deadliest parasitic disease in today's technological 21st Century is hardly recognizable. It affects both livestock & humans.

Caused by the parasite of blood-sucking insects, trypanosomes, it is a major cause of economic loss in the tropics and subtropics.

Approximately 10 million people are affected by trypanosomiasis, which is a major cause of economic loss in the tropics and subtropics.

THE PATTEC INITIATIVE

PatteC is a non-profit organization dedicated to the elimination of trypanosomiasis in Africa. It is currently leading a major effort to eliminate the disease in the region of the Great Lakes and the Congo Basin. PatteC is currently leading a major effort to eliminate the disease in the region of the Great Lakes and the Congo Basin.

Although all the affected countries are committed to eradicating the disease, they need more resources to do so. PatteC is currently leading a major effort to eliminate the disease in the region of the Great Lakes and the Congo Basin.
